(Proceedings commenced at 10:05 a.m.)

             THE COURT: All right. Please be seated. We're her 3 in Motors Liquidation, 09-50026, here for the final pretrial 4 conference.
 5 Let me hear from plaintiffs' counsel first. Who's going to speak?
 6
 7
             MR. BERMAN: I am, Your Honor.
 8
             THE COURT: I have the list of appearances in front 9 of me.
             MR. BERMAN: Steve Berman on behalf of the 10 11 plaintiffs.
12
             THE COURT: Go ahead, Mr. Berman.
13
             MR. HILLIARD: Your Honor, Bob Hilliard on behalf of 14 plaintiffs.
15
             THE COURT: Thank you. Yeah, I have everybody's 16 appearance, so --
             MR. HILLIARD: You just want to start?
17
18
             THE COURT: -- let me -- I want to hear from 19 plaintiffs' counsel first. Don't all get up at once.
20
             Go ahead, Mr. Berman.
             MR. BERMAN: Good morning, Your Honor. Would you 21 like me to run down some of the issues we see?
23
             THE COURT: I would. Yes, please.
24
             MR. BERMAN: I think we've made a lot of progress on 25\parallel the objection to exhibits, and at this point in time, we're
```

```
5
   down -- 1
2
             THE COURT: Which I appreciate. I saw the one 3 revised -- MR. BERMAN: Yes. So we're down to -- 4
5
             THE COURT: -- exhibit today.
6
             MR. BERMAN: -- to just seven objections -- 7
             THE COURT: Okay. That's fine.
8
             MR. BERMAN: -- which we may or may not actually 9 persist when we get to trial and see how it goes.
10
             THE COURT: Okay.
             MR. BERMAN: One issue that we did want to raise with 11 you is we are going to object to the other side's designating 13
   the deposition testimony of their own witnesses. We believe that's improper under Rule 32(a)(3), and we'd like to submit -- 14
15
             THE COURT: You don't need to. I mean, it clearly is improper. You can't -- I should say it's improper, but I've had numerous cases where the parties just simply agree and allow it, but where I've had objections to a party designating 18 19 testimony of its -- of people it controls or within the 20 subpoena power, I sustain those objections. So if you can't work it out, I'm not going to permit it, you know, unless they're able to argue that it falls within one of the recognized exceptions to the hearsay rule, I won't permit the 23

use of the deposition transcripts of your own witnesses. But sometimes people agree the testimony is, you know, not controverted, it just speeds it up, but I'm -- so your point, I take, Mr. Berman. Okay?

24

MR. BERMAN: Okay. Thank you, Your Honor. The second issue, it's not a huge issue, but we do have some objections to the direct testimony.

THE COURT: Okay.

MR. BERMAN: And I don't know how you want to handle that.

THE COURT: When I -- what would be helpful to me is if you could put those objections into writing so I -- because what I will try and do -- is it -- are they extensive, the objections?

MR. BERMAN: No, there's a tiny amount.

THE COURT: Okay. So I think it would be helpful -when would you be able to file written objections to the direct -- proposed direct testimony? What I try to do is rule in advance so that everybody knows, okay, this is what's coming in, this is what's not coming in. Okay.

MR. BERMAN: I think we could do it by tomorrow.

THE COURT: Okay. And it would be helpful if the defendants' counsel would respond -- could respond. It doesn't have to be an elaborate filing, but just so I know what the arguments are, Mr. Karlan, and that way, either before the trial, if I can get it done this week, I would enter a short written order ruling on the objections, or I'll try and do it at the start of the trial, but I want everybody to know what's 1 likely to come in and what's not going to come in. Okay?

 2
 3
             MR. BERMAN: I think the third issue -- I don't know 4 if we actually submitted it to you or not -- is our time 5 allocations.
 6
             THE COURT: That's -- I do want to hear today from 7 people about the time allocation.
 8
             MR. BERMAN: I think we've agreed on nine hours a 9 side.
10
             THE COURT: Okay.
             MR. BERMAN: That would be inclusive of opening and 11 12 closing.
13
             THE COURT: How long do you anticipate being with an 14 opening?
15
             MR. BERMAN: What is your preference? Do you have a 16 preference?
17
             THE COURT:
                         I've read the briefs, okay, so you don't 18 need to repeat what you've put in writing. What I do find 19 helpful is when, typically, in an opening, people kind of try 20 to focus me on what they really think are the core issues for the trial. I've read all the briefs already, okay. Well, I 21 didn't read the reply briefs yet. I guess they came in, they were, what, attached to the -- one of the documents I -- I have 23 24
   to read those today.
```

MR. BERMAN: Okay. So I would -- haven't consulted with Mr. Hilliard, but I would think less than a half an hour for our openings.

THE COURT: That's fine. Look, you've got the nine-hour allocation per side that's agreed. You'll use it as you wish, okay. I think I probably commented before that some of you have been in other trials before me. When I use time allocations, we have never gotten to the end of the trial with people saying, I've run out of time, I need more time. Usually, everybody finishes earlier.

MR. BERMAN: I think we are all anticipating we're going to finish early, by the way. 11

THE COURT: Okay. When I read -- in light of everything I've read, it seemed to me you were all going to finish early, but you got the allocation.

MR. BERMAN: The last question that we have on our side, because we haven't been in a trial with you, is how do you like to handle exhibits? I mean, do you want notebooks? Do you want the witness to have a notebook?

THE COURT: So I usually get them -- are -- well, I've got a couple questions. Are you going to project the -are you using PowerPoint or some other thing -- something else to project the exhibits?

23 MR. BERMAN: Well, we were going to ask you if you 24 would like that.

THE COURT: That's fine. A couple of the questions I had was about -- and the courtroom, I believe -- you know, the courtroom, they did some remodeling over the last two weeks. I started using the courtroom on Friday. What they've done doesn't look very different, but they've put the wires -- there used to be wires in the floors. They put them behind the walls. They haven't -- there are going to be cameras. They haven't put them back up because you've got to put them on brackets. There were cameras on stands before, and there were two big -- or there was one big monitor in the back. They haven't mounted them yet. I don't know whether they'll be up before the trial.

But you do have the ability to plug a laptop into the system. I have two monitors. You can display them on the monitors. Some of you have been in trials here before.

I don't -- Mr. Tecce, I don't think you were in this courtroom, though. I think -- were we in here or we -- I don't remember.

MR. TECCE: I thought we were, Judge, yes.

This used to be Judge Gerber's courtroom, Judge Gonzalez before that. So whether or not you display them on the monitor, I do want paper copies. Getting them in binders, as long as they're clearly marked and tabbed and the binders are tabbed, I can flip to them. That way -- sometimes I write notes on the exhibits.

So, you know, if it's not inconvenient, I would suggest doing both. Project the exhibits, you know. All of you can highlight -- simply highlight, if you have them up on the screen, show me what's really important on it, what you think is important on a page, et cetera. Okay?
          MR. BERMAN: Okay. Those are all the topics I wanted to raise.
          THE COURT: Okay.
          MR. HILLIARD: I have one.
          THE COURT: Mr. Hilliard.
          MR. HILLIARD: Good morning, Your Honor. It's my understanding we were going to have our IT fellow come in and meet with your clerk so that when we start Monday, we can be sure to --
          THE COURT: You should.
          MR. HILLIARD: Okay.
          THE COURT: Yes.
          MR. HILLIARD: I'll arrange that with your clerk.
          THE COURT: Yes.
          MR. HILLIARD: Okay.
          THE COURT: And we'll get somebody from the IT department to come down in addition to my courtroom deputy and make sure that everything works -- MR. HILLIARD: Great.
          THE COURT: -- the way you want it to.
```

MR. HILLIARD: Thank you. The second issue that we have with the other side is closing.

THE COURT: yes.

2.2

MR. HILLIARD: GUC and GM believe that they want to come back after the trial and do closing at a later date. We believe that there is a very clear and concise issue that probably lends itself to whenever we're done, which will probably be closer to Tuesday afternoon than Wednesday, I would quess.

THE COURT: Right.

MR. HILLIARD: We'd be ready to closing, but that's an issue that we're going to need the Court's assistance on, likely.

THE COURT: Sure. With a trial of this length, which I consider short, it seems to me that closings at the end of the evidence is appropriate. In longer trials where I really, you know, prefer to see the transcript, I've scheduled closings a couple of weeks later sometimes until the transcripts are done. So it does -- I'll listen to the other side before making a final say on it, but it does seem to me let's just get the evidence done and the -- evidence and argument done.

And I was going to ask, are you going to have -- have you agreed on having a reporter for daily transcripts or you talked about it?

MR. HILLIARD: We intend to, Judge, and we're happy to share with the other side. 1 2 THE COURT: Okay. 3 MR. HILLIARD: We have talked with them about that, 4 but as a matter of course now, we try to get that done so that 5 we can use it in closing if necessary. 6 THE COURT: Yes. And, you know, the last few trials 7 I've had where there's been daily, there's a -- you know, an 8 iPad on my bench so -- with realtime transcript. I assume 9 you'll use a reporter that has that technology. You know, the advantage to me sometimes, if I haven't followed a question and 10 answer clearly, I might ask a followup question right then. So 11 it helps me to be able to see the realtime transcript. 12 13 MR. HILLIARD: We'll have a screen for the bench, as

THE COURT: That's fine. And usually, it's just an iPad sitting up here that's wired. And we've usually had the reporter sort of by the corner by the jury box, but you can --

MR. HILLIARD: Okay.

THE COURT: I'm pretty easy about that. Okay?

MR. HILLIARD: Speaking of easy, another issue that probably just to make sure that we stay on the right side of how you see things going is we're going to call some of GM's --

23 or GUC's witnesses adversely.

14

15

17

18

19 20

24 well.

THE COURT: Yes.

MR. HILLIARD: And I was visiting with them this morning about how they intend to do their direct or redirect, 1 2 whether they want to call back after we close, and I believe that we've agreed that they'll just do it then. 3 4 THE COURT: It's my preference that you just do your 5 full examination --6 MR. HILLIARD: Yeah. 7 THE COURT: -- while the witness is there rather than 8 recalling the witness. In a bench trial, particularly of this 9 length, it really doesn't seem to me to be warranted to wait and have the witness recalled. I don't -- so generally, I 10 don't sustain objections that it's beyond the scope. Everybody 11 does their full examination. You'll get your chance to 12 13 redirect and things like that. But let's just get the witnesses to tell their story in one sitting. 14 15 MR. HILLIARD: Agreed, and I think the other side 16 agrees, too. 17 THE COURT: Okay. 18 MR. HILLIARD: Thank you, Judge. 19 THE COURT: Mr. Berman. 20 MR. BERMAN: I was reminded that I said we would file 21 our objections to the direct tomorrow. We need to set a response date for the other side, as well. 23 THE COURT: One day later. I mean, I really don't -- if, as you've said, it's only a limited number of objections

you have -- I mean, the written direct is not very lengthy, so

24

it should not be complicated to do. Okay?
1
2
             All right. Mr. Karlan, I want to hear -- 3
             MR. BERMAN: Thank you, Your Honor.
4
             MR. KARLAN: I'm trying to respond to some of what's 5 been said, Your Honor. With respect to the designations of 6 deposition testimony, we have not designated as part of our 7 affirmative case any portion of the transcripts of the 8 depositions of any of our witnesses. But we have, of course, 9 counter-designated --
             THE COURT: Yes.
10 11
             MR. KARLAN: -- substantial portions -- 12
             THE COURT: That's fair.
13
             MR. KARLAN: That's all that's -- 14
             THE COURT: Generally, I -- you know, I rather loosely apply the rule of completeness. So frequently when one side designates, the other side thinks there's another portion 16 of the testimony that's relevant on the same subject.
18 generally allow that in.
19
             What has been my practice with respect to objections to designations, designations, cross-designations, et cetera, 20 is I usually have not ruled on that until the evidence is all 21
        I just haven't had a chance to review -- you know, review
        I've looked at some of the deposition transcripts. When 23 we had the telephone hearing last week, I indicated that with 24

respect to the work product issue I had read the one deposition transcript. But I haven't read the others at this stage.

```
 1
 2
             MR. KARLAN: With respect to the objections to 3 documents, I heard counsel say that they were down to seven.
 4 just wanted to draw Your Honor's attention to footnote one that 5 the plaintiffs have added to Exhibit F to the pretrial order, which as I read it is an objection to -- 6
 7
             THE COURT: Tell me. I don't -- you know, I can -- 8
             MR. KARLAN: -- is an objection to everything. I 9 don't know whether they're -- I don't know whether the reference to seven documents means they're not really -- 10 UNIDENTIFIED: That's ours.
11
             MR. KARLAN: -- pressing the footnote, or -- 12
13 UNIDENTIFIED: That's ours.
14
             MR. KARLAN: That's ours? Okay. All right.
15 we're -- 16
             THE COURT: Mr. Tecce objects to everything.
17
             MR. KARLAN: We're not -- we're -- yeah. We're 18 withdrawing that. All right.
19
             UNIDENTIFIED: Suddenly it seems more 10:19:02 20
             THE COURT: I think you got to have a talk -- 21
             MR. KARLAN: No, no, no.
             THE COURT: You better have a discussion with him.
22
23
             MR. KARLAN: That's totally unreasonable. It's off.
24
   It's out. It's out. That -- 25
             THE COURT: You better have a discussion with your --
```

```
MR. KARLAN: That footnote should not be in there.
1
2
             MR. KARLAN: So we are down to seven -- we're down to 3 seven objections from -- 4
        (Counsel confer)
5
             MR. KARLAN: So I'm not sure where the seven is 6 coming from then, Judge.
7
             THE COURT: Well --
8
             MR. KARLAN: Maybe Mr. Berman can speak to that when 9
   he gets up.
             THE COURT: Hopefully you'll work this out. Okay?
10
             MR. KARLAN: Okay.
11 12
             THE COURT: And you'll let me know if you can get it 13 worked out.
             MR. KARLAN: On the nine hours a side, I don't recall 14 agreeing to that, but it's perfectly fine. And I'll be shocked if this case takes 18 -- 16
17
             THE COURT: They were engaging in mind reading and 18 they knew you would agree.
             MR. KARLAN: That's fine. I'll be shocked if this 19 case goes 18 hours, Judge.
20 21
             THE COURT: I would be surprised.
22
             MR. KARLAN: Closings at the end of the evidence, that's fine, Judge. Is Your Honor going to either permit or 23 24 require or refuse to permit post-trial briefs?
25
             THE COURT: I won't decide that until I've heard the
```

```
evidence. Okay?
 1
 2
             MR. KARLAN: All right.
 3
             THE COURT: And it will depend on whether there's some questions that I haven't thought about so far and I listen 4 5 to the evidence and I think it's not clear. I may ask for post-trial briefs.
 6
 7
             MR. KARLAN: Okay.
 8
             THE COURT: Given when the trial is and the holidays, if I ask for post-trial briefs, it'll probably be for a 9 10 mid-January date -- 11
             MR. KARLAN: Okay.
             THE COURT: -- so your associates are not having to 12 13 work over the holidays.
14
             MR. KARLAN: Judge, I have been known to lift a pen.
15
             THE COURT: Mr. Kirpalani is smiling because he's heard that same little talk before. You know, I'm concerned 17 about the associates. The partners, not so much.
18
             MR. KARLAN: And then, Judge, I think the last thing 19
   I've got is with respect to the calling of our witnesses 20 adverse. Here's what I understand is going to happen. Please 21 tell me if I've got it wrong.
22
             THE COURT: Okay.
23
             MR. KARLAN: Your Honor has required that to the 24 extent anybody wants to put in direct testimony, it had to be in sometime ago. So in terms of telling the story, the story has either been told or it ain't going to get told. The plaintiffs apparently want to do their cross-examination of Mr. Williams and Ms. Andrews as part of their case in chief. And they will do so and any further examination by me will be limited to redirect.

THE COURT: The one caveat I put to that is, you know, you've -- I have the written direct from both sides. And so if you have the direct testimony of a witness and it hasn't addressed issues that the other side's witnesses have put in --

MR. KARLAN: Fair enough.

THE COURT: -- yes, I'm going to permit that.

MR. KARLAN: Fair enough. And then to turn the coin over, when the rest of the plaintiffs' case comes in, they will call -- the -- I guess it's all gentlemen, it's not ladies and gentlemen -- from whom they've put in direct testimony and there will be no more direct testimony from those witnesses. I will either cross them or not. And the trial might be over really fast.

THE COURT: Might be.

MR. KARLAN: Okay. Thank you, Judge. Unless you have questions for me --

THE COURT: So I have a couple of questions --

MR. KARLAN: Yeah. Sure.

THE COURT: -- for both of -- well, go ahead, Mr. --

MR. HILLIARD: Okay. As to that issue, Judge --

```
THE COURT: Yes.
1
2
             MR. HILLIARD: -- just for clarification to be sure, 3 because I understood differently. So we call Mr. Weinstein and 4
   I put in his direct. We pass the witness. They do a 5 cross-examination. It was my belief that depending on the cross-examination, the Court would allow some oral redirect.
6
7
             THE COURT: Absolutely.
8
             MR. HILLIARD: Yeah.
9
             THE COURT: Absolutely.
             MR. KARLAN: I didn't mean to -- 10 11
             MR. HILLIARD: Yeah.
12
             THE COURT: I don't think it was -- I don't think -- 13
             MR. KARLAN: Yeah. Absolutely.
14
             THE COURT: -- Mr. Karlan was saying anything inconsistent with that. That's typically -- so typically you call the witness. You offer the direct written testimony. If 16 there are objections, I'll rule on it or will have ruled on it 18 before. You tender the witness to the other side. They 19 cross-examine. Then you do a redirect.
20
             MR. HILLIARD: Right.
             THE COURT: Okay?
21
22
             MR. HILLIARD: Thank you.
23
             THE COURT: That's generally how I have proceeded.
24
             MR. KARLAN: And that was my understanding.
25
             THE COURT: Okay. That's fair enough. Okay. So, you know, I have a lot more work to do before the trial. But a couple of questions that I had that I would like to be sure that there's evidence and argument addressing is did -- one, did the unsigned agreement permit any party to withdraw from the agreement if the Court requires the plaintiffs to seek Rule 23 certification of one or more economic loss classes?

When I read the agreement, it seemed to me that parties had a right to withdraw from the agreement if I didn't approve the notice program. But it just seemed to me that I could approve the notice program, but nevertheless still decide -- which I haven't -- I've not -- I don't expect to decide now -- but could still decide that, no, Rule 23 certification is going to be required. Okay? But if that were the decision of the Court, could a party withdraw?

And then another question, too, is did the unsigned agreement permit any party to withdraw from the agreement if the Court estimated the claim is at less than $10 billion? My reading of the agreement so far is, no, it didn't. It required the GUC Trust to support a motion to estimate the claims of $10 billion, but it didn't seek to constrain the Court in what it might conclude.

Mr. Karlan, I'll tell you why I'm asking these questions. And when I read your brief, it emphasized that the GUC Trust hadn't made a decision to go ahead with the agreement because it wanted to sort of run this trial balloon by the Court before it decided that. And I was puzzled because if the agreement didn't allow somebody to withdraw, if I decided that 2 Rule 23 certification had to occur or that parties could 3 withdraw if I somehow estimated claims of other than 4 5 $10 billion, that's what puzzled me. And it -- anyway. 6 So I didn't see that specifically addressed in the 7 briefs and I wanted to make sure that I raised that issue 8 today. If before the start of the trial there are other issues 9 I want to be sure that you address, I'll raise them at the start of the trial to give you a chance to -- you know, and if 10 it's not in the specific testimony, I'll let, you know, each side put in additional evidence on it. Okay? 12 13 Anything else anybody wants to raise at this point? Mr. Karlan? 15 MR. KARLAN: Judge, we've -- we're going to be, of course, having Mr. Williams, Ms. Andrews, and Mr. Martorana in 17 court when they're needed. 18 THE COURT: Yes. 19 MR. KARLAN: And if I could just ask for a courtesy, 20 are they needed on the first day? MR. HILLIARD: That depends on the speed. I can give you the list and the order if --23 MR. KARLAN: Okay. Sure. 24 THE COURT: Yeah. So --

MR. HILLIARD: -- if that would help.

```
THE COURT: And I didn't -- I don't think I raised 1 2 this with you all. This is a -- going to be a short trial.
 3
   There are not that many witnesses. I generally require that 4 each side disclose the order of witnesses so if you have 5 different lawyers who are going to do cross-examination, they know when they have to be here. And I've never had a problem 6 with lawyers doing that. I haven't -- I've never -- I have -- 8
   I don't enter written orders. Counsel usually agree that, yes, 9 they'll do that. Not that many witnesses, not that many days 10 of trial, so it isn't that big a deal.
             MR. HILLIARD: Yeah. And we've had that cooperation 11 so far, Judge. But for the Court's edification, we're going to 12 13
   call Mr. -- in this order, Mr. Weisfelner, Mr. Steel, Mr. Weintraub, Mr. Golden, Ms. Andrews, Mr. Williams, and 14
15
   Mr. Martorana.
16
             THE COURT:
                        Okay.
17
             MR. HILLIARD: That would be it.
18
             THE COURT: Thank you.
19
             MR. HILLIARD: And I will give you the list. You 20 don't have to scribble fast.
21
             THE COURT: All right. Anything else anybody else 22 wants -- 23
             Mr. Karlan?
24
             MR. KARLAN: Sure. I've been told that we may have -- may have one or two very small objections to the direct testimony. May we be on the same schedule for -- 1
```

             THE COURT: Yes.
 2
 3
             MR. KARLAN: Thank you.
             THE COURT: Please.
 4
 5
             Mr. Berman?
 6
             MR. BERMAN: The last issue -- I think we have an 7 agreement, and if we don't, we -- I want to raise anyway -- is 8
   the exchange of demonstratives. Twenty-four hours before -- 9
             MR. TECCE: I think we said 3 p.m. Sunday we would exchange a slide presentation of any opening -- 10 11
             THE COURT:
                        Thanks, Mr. Tecce.
12
             No one has raised this issue, so I will raise it now.
13 Since no one has raised it, I'm assuming that neither side is insisting that witnesses be excluded from the courtroom before 14 15
   they testify. Am I correct in that assumption?
             Mr. Karlan?
16
17
             MR. KARLAN: We are not, Judge.
18
             MR. HILLIARD: Nor are we, Judge.
19
             THE COURT: Okay. Thank you.
20
             All right. Any other housekeeping details you think 21 that I've left out?
22
             Mr. Tecce?
23
             MR. TECCE: Yeah. Just in terms of the closing, if 24
   Wednesday afternoon was an option, that's something that we 25 would ask. Even if we conclude on Tuesday --

```
THE COURT:
1 Sure.
2
             Mr. TECCE: -- to give time -- the parties time -- 3
             THE COURT:
                        Yeah.
             MR. TECCE: -- on the morning on Wednesday to 4 5 prepare.
6
             THE COURT: That's fine. I've scheduled nothing 7 else. You know, the three days are blocked out, so I have no 8 problem about doing the -- you know, assuming we finish the 9 evidence on Tuesday, doing the closings on Wednesday is fine with me. You know, give everybody a chance to sort of reflect 10 what they want to say.
11
             MR. HILLIARD: If we do finish Tuesday, Judge, I 12 13 would just ask that we perhaps revisit doing it Wednesday 14 morning as -- 15
             THE COURT: Okay.
             MR. HILLIARD: -- Texas is calling and -- 16
17
             THE COURT: Yes. I -- 18
             MR. HILLIARD: -- it's the holidays.
19
             THE COURT: It is the holidays, Mr. Tecce, so -- I understand, Your Honor. But -- 20
             MR. TECCE:
                        We'll revisit --
21
             THE COURT:
                        -- one of our team has a conflict -- 22
             MR. TECCE:
23
                        I'm sorry?
             THE COURT:
24
             MR. KARLAN: All of our team has a -- Bob and I 25 already agreed we're not going to go for Wednesday morning.
```

```
We -- you and I spoke --
 1
 2
             THE COURT: You'll work it out. Okay?
 3
             MR. KARLAN: Okay.
             THE COURT: Let's try and show --
 4
 5
             MR. KARLAN: Okay.
             THE COURT: -- some professional courtesies and the 6 7
   fact that counsel want to return home for the holidays. Okay?
 8
   All right.
             All right. I will -- I'm going to enter an order 9 approving the joint pretrial order. I recognize that there may 10 be some further tinkering with the objections. Hopefully you'll be able to do that. I'm glad you've been able to 13 resolve most of the objections at this point. Okay? Look 14 forward to seeing you next week.
             MR. KARLAN: Thank you, Judge.
15
16
             MR. TECCE: Thank you, Your Honor.
17
             THE COURT:
                         Okay.
18
             UNIDENTIFIED: Thank you, Your Honor.
19
             THE COURT: You know we start at 9:00 each day?
20
   Okay. Thanks very much. All right. We're adjourned.
